CHILD GETS SICK. CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach or Bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver sets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restlessness, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of California Syrup of Figs; then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is of times all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed in the bottle. Look carefully at the first bottle, and the California Fig Syrup Company.—Adv.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBED VINOL

To Restore Strength to This Weak Nervous Woman.

Many fair-minded doctors prescribe Vinol because they know what it is made, viz: the medicinal extracts of fresh cod livers, peptone of iron and beef peptone, without oil or grease in the cod liver oil. They know these are the oldest and most famous tonics. Read the result in Mrs. Mason's case.

"I keep house for my little family of two, and got into a nervous, run-down condition. I was tired and weak and did not know what ailed me. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I noticed improvement before I had finished the first bottle, and I am now feeling fine and doing all my household work." Mrs. M. S. Mason, 203 Pineale St., Trenton, N. J.

The Grim Reaper

MRS. CHRISTINA WATSON.

Mrs. Christina Watson, about 65 years old, widow of John Watson, died this morning at 6 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Evans, 116 Gallatin avenue. She had been in poor health for some time, but though her condition took a turn for the worse a week ago, her death was unexpected. She was able to sit up in her room all day yesterday and apparently her condition was slightly improved. There were no alarming symptoms until a short time prior to her death.

Mrs. Watson was born in Johnston, Scotland, a daughter of Alexander and Patrick. She was married to John Watson in the house in Scotland in which her mother was born and died. About three years after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Watson came to this country, settling in Illinois.

After moving to Cleveland county, and also residing at Bentleyville for a number of years, Mr. Watson died at Monongahela about 12 years ago, and since his death Mrs. Watson had made her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of Gallatin avenue. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church for many years, and was highly respected by her wide circle of friends. In addition to her daughter, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Watson of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Margaret Luton of Clarkburg. One brother, Robert Patrick, one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Boyd, both of Scotland, and six children, including Mrs. Christina Smith of Pittsburgh, formerly of Connelville, also survive.

MRS. ALICE BOYD.

Mrs. Alice Boyd, 55 years old, widow of Robert L. Boyd, died Saturday at the family residence, 410 Washington avenue. Deceased was ill. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home, with Rev. Wilbur Nelson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment in Hill Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Boyd was a daughter of Benjamin Newcomer, deceased, and Mrs. Mary Anderson Newcomer. She was married to Robert L. Boyd, whose death occurred a few years ago. Mrs. Boyd had been a resident of Connelville for about two years, coming here from Bellevue. Last Wednesday the funeral of her son, Harold Boyd, was held at the home of the deceased, and the following stepchildren: Miss May Boyd of Connelville; Mrs. D. B. Lemon of Greensburg; Mrs. S. B. Myers of Vanderbilt, and W. J. Boyd of Los Angeles, Cal.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question is asked every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but often due to disordered blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the system better able to withstand the varying elements. This is the important reason why Scott's Emulsion should always be taken for colds, and so does more—builds strength to prevent sickness.

Scott's Emulsion contains Nature's rare strength-building fats, so skillfully blended that the blood profits from every drop. It is free from harmful drugs or alcohol. Sold at drug stores—always get the genuine.

EASY VICTORY IS SCORED ON TEAM FROM TARENTUM

Visitors Show Up Good In
First Few Minutes of

BACKFIELD MAKES BIG GAINS

Dare Scores a Touchdown in Four Successive Runs, Beginning at 10
Yard Line; Dugan, Smoak, Moyer and Miller Also Gain; Martray Good.

High School had an easier victory than was expected Saturday afternoon when the eleven from Tarentum high was walked over and a score of 35-0 piled up. After the first few minutes of play, during which Tarentum looked strong, the locals had everything their own way, and Tarentum never put the ball into Connellsville territory, the 50-yard line being as far as they could advance it.

Connellsville pulled off several big runs during the game, the entire back field getting their share of them. Miller got his runs in catching punts. Many of them went straight to him and twice he caught the ball while on a run. With a good start and no interference, he would speed up and get around the Tarentum team. Moyer and Dare made several nice end runs, Dare especially; and Smoak would often go through for 15 yards. Dare got a touchdown all by himself once. He caught a punt on the 50-yard line and carried it back 20. He was then given the ball and eluded the right end for 20 more. Once he was called upon to carry the ball and advanced eight. The ball was then on the Tarentum two-yard line and since Dare had taken the ball that far it was given to him for the fourth time, and he went over for a touchdown.

Smoak kicked three goals out of five. He seemed to put the hardest ones over the crossbar, but when given a straight kick he would miss. Twice he kicked two of the point-blank goals that have been seen this year, each from a difficult angle.

Martray, playing right end, showed up well in interfering for the runner, and in stopping runs around his end. When a run was called around his end, Martray was there with the interference and always spilled the most dangerous man. Martray was given in chance on forward yesterday, but he ran a point back several yards and is steadily becoming a good end. He formerly played a tackle.

In the first quarter Connellsville got the points on a safety. Going the Tarentum downs on the two-foot line, it took them to Tarentum. They were a half to Allshouse who was to keep. Allshouse seemed to have foreseen that he was in the same box.

Courage

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene
by Daniel G. Dixon, M. D.,
D. C., Commissioner of Health.

Every doctor is continually finding patients who have some serious ailment which has been neglected until the possibilities of cure are greatly reduced or entirely hopeless.

Want of courage and not lack of knowledge that there is something radically wrong with them, but in the majority of instances, keep their patients from seeking a physician's aid.

This is one of many instances that might be cited to show how essential it is to health. It is a want of moral courage, in many instances, which leads a man who is perfectly aware that alcohol stimulates and breaks him down physically and even mentally to continue to drink.

Then again every physician meets in his practice men and women who get into the funk of the most terrible ailment often enough these people worry themselves until they arrive at a state of mental and physical depression which makes them ready prey for disease.

Unquestionably there are many dangers to health which we must meet every day of our lives. It is well to know of these things in order that we may form the habit of avoiding as many of them as possible but to be ever fearful, thinking of and dreading from danger will not aid us to avoid it.

The brave man is he who knows his enemy's strength, is watchful, vigilant, but not fearful.

Towards the many times before their deaths, the valiant never taste of death but once.

DEMOCRATIC BUNK.

The arguments have all been made in the political campaign of 1915 and nothing remains to be done but the voting.

"This tariff business is all bunk," says Secretary McAdoo. So it is. It's all Democratic bunk. The tariff under which the Democrats came into power promised the people lower living costs, greater public revenues and increased general prosperity. It failed miserably to keep a single one of these promises. It was Democratic bunk, and the American people were lured.

There has been a great deal of Democratic bunk about the political fight in Fayette county. It has been a campaign of bright promises and black insinuations. The Democratic organs have been industrious in promising the public that if the court house is filled with Democratic officials there will ensue an era of great reforms, rigid economies and splendid efficiency. The same promises were made for the Democratic administration at Washington, and they are today conspicuous by their utter neglect or complete failure. We have in Fayette county a Democratic administration of the poor house, and its economy and efficiency do not seem to be anything to brag about. It is another case of Democratic bunk.

Stripped of its insinuations and reduced to fact, the Democratic indictment against the Republican administration of Fayette county consists of two counts. The first charge is that the Republican District Attorney has not been sufficiently active in prosecuting alleged election offenses committed by Republicans, or rather by a single Republican, since but one case is cited. But would a Democratic District Attorney do any better with Democratic offenders? The second count is based on the fact that the County Treasurer, an aged and honorable Civil War veteran, has some of the county funds tied up in the Thompson failure. As we have pointed out, the County Treasurer has committed no offense. He has been unfortunate. He deserves public sympathy, not public condemnation.

Furthermore it will be well to bear in mind that neither the present District Attorney nor the present County Treasurer are candidates for reelection, and the Republican nominees are in no wise responsible for any of the matters complained of. The attempt to discredit their candidates by these matters is only another case of Democratic bunk.

The Democratic party of the nation succeeded in luring the people of the country in 1912, but the Democratic organization of Fayette will fail in its attempt to lure the people of the county in 1915.

A CONDITION PRECEDENT.

The question of national preparedness is discussed at some length and much pursued by the Baltimore Manufacturers Record, an industrial publication which speaks particularly for the South. The Record would have us believe that the country will never be entirely safe until the center of its steel capacity is shifted from Pennsylvania to Alabama. It is a time when the narrow strip of land along the Atlantic coast extending from Connecticut to Virginia, with its steel mills, armor plants, shipyards, and powder mills, may fall into the hands of a foreign foe, who may also blockade our ports, shutting off the supply of foreign ore, and in case that foe is Great Britain he would probably blockade the Lake ore business. The Record offers this solution of the dilemma:

"The United States Steel Corporation owes it to the country, as well as to its stockholders, to recognize that it holds as trustee for national welfare, as well as for stockholders' profit, almost unlimited stores of ore and coal in Alabama, and that this trusteeship should be used to develop the iron and steel-making interests of that state on a scale infinitely greater than any plan it has yet formulated. The Steel Corporation could well afford for the safeguarding of its own future under all contingencies, as well as for national safety, to lay down immediately a campaign for spending $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 in developing the South iron and steel-making industries commensurate with the resources which it controls in that section."

The Record does not ignore the fact that such a development might make it more difficult for the United States Steel Corporation to convince the United States Government that it is not one of the "Terrible Trusts" which should be cast down and destroyed, but the Record cheerfully suggests that the case of the Government against the Corporation hasn't a leg to stand on.

The Record represents the South. The South controls the Democratic administration. We would respectfully suggest to Colonel Edmunds, the versatile and accomplished editor of The Record, that he use his influence to have the Southern political interest at Washington withdraw the Government appeal of the United States Steel Corporation dissolution suit as a condition precedent to demanding the above action on the part of the Corporation.

RAILROAD TIME TABLES.

The American Traffic Association has concluded that the best method of placing railroad time tables before the public is to advertise them in the newspapers, and an effort will be made to revive the old custom of advertising the arrival and departure of trains.

The Courier has always protested that the old custom of advertising the arrival and departure of trains in the local newspapers should never have been abandoned by the railroads, and we think time has justified this judgment. To this day, the average citizen is much discommodated and correspondingly vexed by the absence of the railroad time tables in his newspaper when he desires to know the hour of the arrival or departure of a certain train. For all these years he has signally failed to acquire the habit of carrying railroad schedules in his pockets. The folders handed out at the railroad stations seldom come into his possession, and seldom remain when he takes them. They are cast aside and forgotten. They are too cumbersome to carry and too bothersome to preserve, but they are sadly misused when information is desired, the information which was formerly always available in the daily newspaper.

The railroads would serve their patrons better and themselves better by spending less money on elaborate folders and restoring the tabular time table advertisement to the columns of the local papers. We make this statement without prejudice. We are aware that it may be said that the newspapers are not altogether disinclined to the argument, but it will be recalled that on one or more occasions in Pennsylvania it was proposed to pass a law making it compulsory upon railroads to publish their train schedules in the newspapers, and that the newspapers opposed this legislation on the ground that it was extortion.

That action was a sufficient vindication of the newspapers in the past and the action of the American Traffic Association is an ample justification of newspaper advertising in the present.

A RUNAWAY STEEL MARKET.

Trade conditions may well cause the merchant coke operators to pause. The boom in the steel business is actually here and it must shortly be fully reflected in the iron and coke business. The American Metal Market says:

"Events have moved rapidly in the steel market in the past few weeks. In many weeks ago, months indeed, that our reports began to suggest the possibility of these being a runaway market in steel prices, with an approach to famine conditions. We pointed by week the possibility has appeared to be somewhat less remote, but in the past week what was formerly a possibility has been turned into definite probability. A little further progress such as has occurred in the past week would convert the present probability into an absolute certainty."

This view is reflected by other iron trade papers. The Daily Iron Trade Review, commenting on the quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation showing earnings of $38,000,000 for the last quarter, says: "What the Steel Corporation has done in six months, all the independent producers have equalled, proportionately. The earnings figures of the leading producers bring into bold relief the evidence that the recent recovery of the steel industry from depression to high prosperity has been the swiftest and most remarkable in all the history of the ups and downs of this surprising business."

ROTTER AT THE ROOTS.

The Uniontown Herald has maintained a dignified silence under the bitter attacks of the Uniontown News Standard, but Editor Allen Foster Cooper hands out a few timely hints in the closing hours of the campaign which seem not to have been received with good grace. Referring to certain "self-appointed watchdogs of the public interest," The Herald says: "When they launch an attack and abuse and subvert a professional mudslinger to run it, they elude in the attacks made upon Republicans and private citizens. They permitted all sorts of abuse and abuse to be answered in its columns for months. Now that they are getting a few plain facts in reply, they are pained and shocked to think that such things could be. If they would be a little more careful of their own conduct and that of the mercenaries, they might avoid what they are getting now and what they will get in the future."

The Herald is grasping the nettle firmly. A few good pills might dislodge its usefulness. It's rotten at the roots.

In Uniontown the campaign is taking on a personal note. The business manager of one paper threatens to withdraw the editor of another as soon as he gets able. When he gets able he had better forget it. Such threats come with bad grace from newspapers that are utterly reckless in their personal references.

Don't forget the amendments.

The Uniontown News Standard refers to the Bath Tub money. It was Democratic money. It ought to have been all right.

Judge Reppert promises to run well.

Editor Cooper's Parthian arrows went home. The Barfoot boys thought Allen couldn't shoot, but it seems that he's a regular William Tell.

It's encouraging to know that one Connelville Democrat remains on the slate.

It is reported that the Democratic organization has abandoned Candidate Higbee, but this is a mistake. Candidate Higbee abandoned the organization weeks ago and has been playing a lone hand ever since.

The plot to cripple or destroy the Bethlehem steel plant is supplemented by a number of suspicious fires at plants manufacturing war supplies.

Some of the hyphens evidently have bomb connections.

The Uniontown News Standard, official barfoot organ, appeals to Democrats to vote the Democratic ticket straight. There's something for Republicans to think about and profit by. If it is a good thing for Democrats to vote the Democratic ticket in this campaign, it is a good thing for Republicans to vote the Republican ticket. It's a poor rule that doesn't work both ways.

It has been decided on the West Side that persistent truancy is the White man's burden.

The News cries out against the Uniontown Herald after this fashion: "Its vituperation and unfair allegations against certain candidates is the best evidence in the world that the gang is on the run and that the people are about to come to their own." If "vituperation and unfair allegations" concerning candidates are any evidence that the party supporting them is on the run it's a wonder the Democratic party hasn't broken its everlasting neck long ago.

There are lots of tickets this year, but the right ticket is the one with the R to it.

The News has "inside information" that Connelville is warning to the support of the Democratic candidate for Sheriff. In the meantime there are rumors that somebody dropped a bomb on the town. We refrain from details lest it prove the soul of Reformers Higbee.

Councilor Higbee is a good advertiser if he is a poor campaigner.

Abel Lincoln is claimed as an advocate of Woman Suffrage. Councilor Higbee should look after this Phantom Voter. There is reason to think that Abel didn't take much stock in petticoat government.

The Republican ticket looks good, and like the shingled cat, it's better than it looks.

Silent John Morrow is not without the gift of speech, but he doesn't abuse it. Many people talk so much they soon make everybody tired.

"Another lie nailed" shatters the Uniontown News Standard. The Standard has had its hammer out for many days, but it is not on record that it has nailed anything yet. It has just knocked.

The Sterling family not theirs, but the Carr family had to go to the Poor House.

The Horse

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Flood Old Keweenaw."

The horse is a quaint quadruped with horns on his feet, a beautiful horsehair tail and a two-foot long head adorned at the end with long expressive nostrils as large as golf clubs.

Nowadays horses are not common and only the larger cities possess horse garages where the horse is stored and kept in training order. Once, however, they were very plentiful and were put to a great variety of uses. Years ago horses were used to haul motors, cabs and trucks and street cars and drays. They were also ridden and as they had no running boards it was a novel sight to see the squeaking clanking of a horse-drawn horse trailer with leather saddles and pulling the patient, benighted, about with leather reins instead of steering wheels. Moreover horse races were held in all parts of the country at which vast multitudes gathered and made bets. Oddly enough, the people did not bet who would win but on what horse would win. The races were not too tame, as the animals never whickered or threw a fire or broke their steering gear and the speed of the race did not attain a speed of forty miles an hour.

The horse was, in fact, the automobile of former times. Its hind legs, which were, or footless rather, and were exceedingly hard, but could go over very rough roads better and it had need anti-skid chains in wet weather. It was of about 1-40th horsepower and its fuel was a mixture of oats and corn fed him in a horse-drawn wagon or a car. It was both a water cooled and was controlled by a bit throttle and a whip which served the purpose of a spark advance. It was changed from low to high speed or to reverse very rapidly, merely by command of its driver—which is a point not yet reached by the most ingenious of automobile makers.

The horse was very slow, but was easily started and was usually reliable. Oddly enough the horse usually became nervous instead of his chauffeur and caused most of his own accidents. He was driven without benefit of gears and without license numbers, and if hauling a heavy load with a team of eight mules or more.

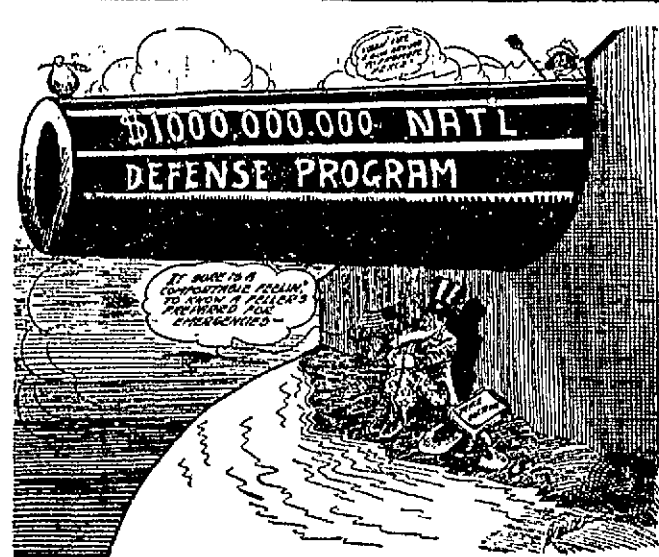

Horse driving was not exciting but the horse had his strong points. He did not rust and never ran out of lubricating oil. He was also a self-starter and had no engine, being only dangerous behind. He lasted ten years with almost no repair expenses and sometimes the owner of a horse awoke to find that he had two horses instead of one, the new one being the latest model although very small at first.

Let us admire the horse for what he has done and let us remember that the automobile trade would never have prospered had the horse not been on hand to haul the early model home.

SCOTSDALE HAS A FINE HALLOWE'EN PARADE SATURDAY

Mill Town's Celebration Exceeds All Previous Attempts.

TOWN JAMMED WITH VISITORS

Connellsville and Greensburg send big delegations as well as other nearby towns; parade declared to have been best of any held in region.

Special to "The Courier." SCOTSDALE, Nov. 1.—Scottsdale's Halloween under the auspices of the Volunteer Fire Department was a tremendous success from every point of view on Saturday evening. It followed the one at Greensburg on Thursday night and the one at Connellsville on Friday night, and both of these towns which the Scottsdale boys and a large crowd had visited responded with their bands and fire departments adding greatly to the appearance of the parade. The Scottsdale members were in no competition for any prize, but acted as members of the department of public safety committee, and assisted in lining up the parade.

It was a truly magnificent and unique pageant filled with characters fitting a great autumn festival, and a crowd of about 3,000 or more spectators lined the streets and watched the line gaily appearing in front of them. The parade was a number of excellent bands, which made the town lively with their music.

It would be difficult and really impossible to give an adequate description of the many meritorious costumes worn and the unique characters represented. It was commented upon generally that another upward step was taken in the spectacular and marked improvement was noted all along the line. Noticeable it was that more care is displayed in costumes; more inventiveness is displayed in makeup, and the pictorial effect, as it were, has been greatly enhanced by previous fests of this kind here. If this is kept up and the same progress made as is evidenced every year it will be only a few years until the Halloween parade will be the pride of the beauty of the established Mardi Gras of the south. The crowds came as far as from Uniontown and Jeannette, and Hamilton and other points at a distance were well represented. This brief mention will give an idea of what sections were represented. It was impossible to get a prize list in its completeness as many of those receiving prizes had not called for them yet today.

BADLY HURT. Frank Sturtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sturtz of near the White school house, was the victim of a serious accident on Saturday evening when he was going into town in a Grover 12. J. Ziron's wagon. The boy was in the rear part of the wagon and was just going to jump out when the driver gave the wagon a sudden start and the boy and the wagon fell forward suddenly the Sturtz boy falling backward out of the wagon. He landed on the paved street on the back of his head, rendering him unconscious. He was carried into the store and then taken home. The lad was very ill from the shock and a physician visited him a number of times. It being feared that the boy's head had been injured by the fall.

A STARTLING FIRE. There was a fire started from a gas stove in the Carter Sisters millinery store Saturday evening about the time for the parade to start. Several firemen broke in the door and put the blaze out with buckets. The fire alarm was not blown as with the thousands of people about there would have been a panic.

SOUTH SCOTSDALE. Mr. and Mrs. A. Keldorfer and some others were at J. J. Miller's to visit the former's father.

Mrs. Fred C. Moser was a Pittsburgh visitor recently.

Misses Carrie Shetler and Mary Shetler were at the Sunday school convention in Connellsville.

STEEL CORPORATION EARNINGS REPORTED VERY SATISFACTORY

Trade Satisfied. Although They Fell $2,000,000 Below Predictions.

BETTER PRICES NOW RULING

Gains During Latter Part of Quarter Show That Big Concern Is Happily Clearing Up the Contracts It Had Made on the Basis of Low Prices.

Despite the fact that the earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the quarter ended September 30, last, were slightly under the lowest estimates in Wall Street, or $25,700,000, against $10,000,000, the showing is considered a good by investors in the steel trade. The most important factor attached to the balance available for dividends on the common stock, 3.54%, or at the rate of 14.18% per annum, on the $508,392,500 common outstanding. In the quarter ended June 30, last, the balance for common dividends was only 1.62%, or at the rate of 6.18% per annum, and this one feature of the statement is pointed to as the most favorable.

That conditions in the steel trade are good has been known, and the third quarter statement has many features to confirm this. For instance the balance for the common stock in the three months ended September 30, last amounted to something over $18,000,000, whereas in the six months of the year only $14,777,751 was shown after paying the preferred dividends, the $8,247,515 reported in the second quarter covering a deficit in the first three months of $2,319,841. Depreciation and reserve, which in the statement just issued amounted to $7,925,931, was about $1,000,000 more than was charged off in the second quarter and on equal amounting to that of the third quarter last year.

In well informed circles it is predicted that the earnings of the Corporation for the current quarter will show larger totals than those just reported. They point out that the prices for various steel articles are advancing, that the Corporation is operating at a greater capacity, and that it is receiving more uniform prices now than it has for some time. It is stated the earnings in the third quarter, especially in the first two months of the period, were based on some contracts that were not paying the higher prices. This is explained by the fact that the total in August, $12,500,000, was more than $500,000 above that for July. While September showed an increase of more than $700,000 over August, this is pointed to as indicating that the company was gradually working off low-priced contracts and would be able to show even larger totals in the last quarter. The orders on the books of the Corporation have been showing handsome increases and while no figures are available for the present total bookings, it is believed the next statement will show another great increase over the September 30 total.

There had been some talk of a resumption of dividends on the common stock, but in the best informed circles no such action was looked for and the announcement after the meeting did not cause surprise. It is stated by some steel men, however, that in the face of such earnings the directors can not let another quarter pass without some action. Attention is called to the fact in his connection that the balance for the common stock for the nine months was sufficient to pay a full year's dividend on the junior issue with 0.11% to spare, a small margin, it is true, but there is another quarter to be heard from and this will increase the balance to probably 2%, or 8% above a 4% year's requirement.

Prominent steel men regard the outlook for the steel industry as brighter than it has been in many years. They say the railroad's are ordering more freely, although not up to the volume of former years, but these orders in connection with those resulting from war contracts and other business are sufficient to insure a continuance of good earnings for the steel companies for some time to come.

Foreign purchases of steel are also larger than they have been for a long time. Russia being one of the good customers, with other countries also placing orders. Then also attention is called to the fact that it may be reasonably expected that enormous orders will be placed in this country during the reconstruction period in Europe after the war, so that every one in the trade believes the steel companies are in for a prolonged era of good business.

PLAN ALASKAN ROAD

Iron Chain Holders May Construct a Railway.

Considerable local interest has been shown in deposits of iron ore in an area that centers about 25 miles north-west of Nome, Alaska. Last year Henry M. Tarkin, of the United States Geological Survey, made a hasty examination of some of the more important properties in this locality and his report has just been made public by the Survey in Bulletin 522-L.

Five groups of claims are held in the iron-bearing districts, but little development work had been done on them at the time of the examination, so that it is not possible to estimate the quantity of ore available.

Those who are interested in the iron ore have proposed the construction of a railroad from the vicinity of the properties to the coast along the Snuk River valley. The route is apparently practicable and would give a down grade all the way to the coast, a distance of about 14 miles.

A copy of the report may be obtained free on application to the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your diet and bowels. There is no need of having a sallow complexion—driving under your eyes—dark circles—frown lines look in your face—dark eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit that makes beauty which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

GARRISON WANTS 500,000 MEN TRAINED FOR ARMY OF DEFENSE

Secretary of War Says Citizens With Military Training Are Sufficient.

Compares Wastage of Unprepared Troops With Work of Regulars in Mexican War.

SECRETARY OF WAR LINDLEY M. GARRISON, in an article in the Independent recently on "Reasonable Preparation," says that men who have studied the subject with care think a well trained body of 400,000 to 500,000 citizen soldiers, immediately available, together with our permanent force in regular and militia establishments, will give us reasonable guarantee against hostile invasion of our territory.

The main part of the article is aimed at those who oppose any increase in the military preparedness of the country. One of the most striking passages is the reply to those who object to further military preparation on the ground that the United States should set an example to the rest of the world. It reads:

"An all sufficient answer to those who voice such sentiments is present before our eyes today. This nation has surely set the example desired for the 150 years of its existence. A loss even those who shrink from taking military precautions constantly refer to the defensive possibilities possessed by the country in its undeveloped, untrained personnel. In other words, they recognize that in the world, as it exists today, force may become necessary to preserve the most sacred and essential elements of life, but they prefer not to prepare for this possibility, and assume or state that when the emergency arises we can develop the resources to meet it.

Preparation Is Economy.

"I do not feel that this is an intelligent way to deal with this great question or that it will appeal to a reasoning mind. So long as force is used in the world those against whom it may be used must reckon upon the possibility, and if they are wise men and intelligent men and courageous men they will prepare themselves therefor. There must be a clear decision between no preparation and proper preparation.

experience of the past has demonstrated to any reasoning mind the absolute necessity of proper preparation. Whatever may be our individual conclusions as to what is reasonable. We have tried the minimum degree of preparation, and our history is full of its unhappy lessons."

In our first war we enrolled 400,000 untrained men, Mr. Garrison says, but while the country had to endure the cost of maintaining them and the consequent loss of useful production it was seldom able to muster more than about 30,000 men to meet the invader in all parts of our territory. A far smaller, well trained and reliable force under Washington, he says, would undoubtedly have won independence with much less waste and loss of life and money.

In the war of 1812, Mr. Garrison continues, we mustered more than 500,000 untrained men. This method of raising an army, with its reckless extravagance in men, was necessary to meet an enemy whose largest force was about 10,000 men. A thoroughly trained and reliable force one-twentieth of what we actually had enrolled should have decided the war in its early months and prevented the loss that followed.

Small Force Conquered Mexico.

The early part of the Mexican war was carried out by 2,100 trained regulars. The second part was accomplished by a force which never exceeded 12,400 men, while the Mexican capital was captured and the war ended with a trained force of fewer than 6,000. Nevertheless the total number of men enrolled for the war was more than 104,000.

In the civil war the north enrolled nearly 3,000,000. In spite of re-enlistments, Mr. Garrison says, this number is enormous in comparison with the number actually engaged in the campaign of any one year. If any conclusion is to be drawn from this, he says, it is that at the beginning a well trained force, insignificant in numbers in comparison with the ultimate total, might have accomplished the same result in far less time with correspondingly less loss of all kinds. He continues:

"In our latest war we enrolled 275,000 men, of whom the total number actually employed for any useful purpose during the war did not exceed 40,000. The remainder furnished the death and disease toll in camps where troops lived as a useless burden on the government."

After coming to the conclusion that a trained body of 400,000 to 500,000 citizen soldiers, which can be quickly mobilized and completely equipped, would be enough in case of an invasion, Mr. Garrison says, the navy and coast defenses were properly maintained. Mr. Garrison continues:

"Hundreds of young men are eagerly coming to our student camps of military instruction. They are there learning no undemocratic or militaristic ideas; they are taught nothing inconsistent with the manly virtues of free citizens of the republic, but simply how to render in the most effective way the last full measure of devotion which free citizens may give to preserve freedom for those who come after them. We must find a way to impart proper military instruction to a relatively small number of our young men to provide this citizen force of between 400,000 and 500,000."

Mr. Garrison says he is hopeful that reasonable suggestions to this end will meet with the practically unanimous approval of the people of the country.

Knocking on Wood.

"Knock on wood" is one of the most ancient expressions in use today instead of being modern slang, according to Professor William E. Budge. The expression dates from a custom in vogue 3,000 years ago, when wood was regarded as the antipathy of evil influences. Metals were regarded as tabooed by certain spirits, and if a man handled these metals he immediately touched wood to appease the spirits. Ancient records show that King Solomon's temple was built with wooden tools and implements made of precious metals. For iron was tabooed and would have polluted the temple.—Exchange.

SECRETARY OF WAR LINDLEY M. GARRISON.

infiltrable nation has scarcely if ever existed on the face of the earth. At all times when not actually engaged in warfare the military precautions taken by this country have been absolutely negligible. What is happening upon the continent of Europe does not seem to have been a happy outcome of our example any more than does what has just happened in the far east.

"If our example is to have no more effect than is exhibited upon the opposite side of the two oceans, then it seems to be the height of foolishness to leave ourselves helpless because of the supposed benefit of our example."

Cites China's Experience.

"Across the Atlantic the effect of our example has been terrifically useful. We are to claim proudly that those nations which almost lost their national existence because of lack of military precautions did so because of our example and unless we are to claim proudly that across the Pacific our example was responsible for the condition which led the president of a great republic to say:

"Our rights and privileges in Manchuria have suffered enormously. We are shamed and humiliated. Let our own weakness invited insult. Let all people unite and work harmoniously for the supreme object of saving the country."

Mr. Garrison asks whether this country has, in the light of all that should be considered, taken proper military precautions. He continues:

"To those whose judgment is determined by preconceived convictions the answer is, of course, a simple one and reasoning is futile. If one is convinced that man is never justified in the use of force to defend or protect himself or otherwise when circumstances would seem to require it, then no argument or reason or other consideration will prevail. Likewise to those who feel justified in trusting to luck or chance reason and facts are useless. But to the great mass of men who look upon this matter from the standpoint of reason, common sense and duty there is a very live, real question, which calls for their best efforts to solve properly."

"It is, interesting to observe that

THE BARD OF AVON

Now It Is Alleged That Shakespeare Was Illiterate.

COULD NOT WRITE, IT IS SAID.

An Expert in Such Things Claims That an Analysis of the Signatures Left by the Immortal William Strips Him of All Literary Credit.

The question of who did "write Shakespeare" does not concern William McConway, who has written a monograph on his Shakespeare theories, so much as "could William Shakespeare of Stratford-on-Avon write at all?" Mr. McConway is convinced that whoever did write the plays, it was not the bard of Avon, so called. He bases his belief on evidence presented by certain existing signatures made by William Shakespeare and which seem to prove him to have been an illiterate man.

Mr. McConway admits that, though he evidently illiterate, Shakespeare possessed native ability, manifested by his money getting faculties, and adds the fact that as a theatrical manager Shakespeare secured to himself the plays that he did and thus stamped himself a competent man of business and a judge of public taste. But in regard to certain deficiencies exhibited by his signature Mr. McConway, after having made a study of the characteristics of signatures, says:

"Observations of the efforts and performances of illiterate men in the laborious production of signatures has led me to the conclusion that here was a man ashamed of his inability to write, made so by his associations and the rise in his condition of life, seeking to cover his intellectual nakedness with a garment provided by a sympathetic friend."

"The sympathetic friend in this instance doctored into the imagination in the form of some scrivener who 'set the copy' so laboriously reproduced in the form of the signatures to the deed and mortgage of 1613 and to the will of 1616."

tain money interests in the Globe theater. In this fragment appears, in two places, the name "Wilm, Shakespeare," written by the professional scrivener who prepared the case. Mr. McConway points out that Shakespeare's own signature appended is a notorious imitation, performed by a man who could not read his chirography when he had written it.

Mr. McConway is convinced that this scrivener is the man who made the copy which enabled "William, Shakespeare" to execute legal papers without the humiliation of the "X" mark. The rule of legal procedure required the evidence to be written out and signed by the witness before leaving the presence of the court.

"Special attention is called to this signature," says Mr. McConway, "as it is much abbreviated. The 'great dramatist,' who had at his command, as evidenced by his putative works, a wealth of words measuring five times the number gathered into the dictionary of the time, uses but a moiety of the characters which he had been taught to use as the ideograph to represent his name."

"We are told that he was instructed to appear later before the court for a further examination, but the record nowhere shows that he ever appeared, although the other witnesses appeared a second time. Would they be considered cynical who might surmise that the position in which Shakespeare of Stratford found himself when called upon to attach his signature to the record in open court was one of extreme embarrassment in that he could not without some exposure of ignorance use his 'copy' to guide his pen?"—New York Sun.

The Attorney in England.

The use of the word attorney denotes a belated mind. Since Nov. 1, 1875, attorneys have ceased to exist, their title merged by law into that of solicitor of the supreme court of Judicature, says a writer in the London Mail. The name had long been used as a term of abuse. Johnson observed of an acquaintance that "he did not care to speak ill of any man behind his back, but he believed the gentleman was an attorney."

Archibald Trench in 1859 noted that the word attorney was going out of favor and that the lower branch of the legal profession preferred to be called solicitors. So when the judicature act of 1873 was before parliament a clause was inserted abolishing the obnoxious title. But with our delightful conservatism we still honor the "attorney general."

CRABS IN FULL DRESS.

Some Species Are Fond of Finery and Clothe Themselves Carefully.

Many of the crab species of shellfish clothe themselves. Some species dress elaborately by taking small pieces of different colored weeds and sticking them on the shell, so as to look like a stone covered with weed. They spend hours, with the utmost perseverance, in making these pieces adhere, by trying the same piece over and over again till they succeed. They have a fine sense of symmetry and always put a red piece on one limb to match the red piece they have put on the other, and a green piece to match a green piece, though how they know red from green in the dark pools where they live is hard to say, unless it is by taste or smell. When once their dress is completed it improves the older it becomes, as the weed actually grows on them.

Another species, with like habits and a most decided love for finery, was described at a meeting of the Linnean society, as clothing themselves with bits of bright colored seaweed, sponges, and so forth. If the crab be despoiled of its garments it at once proceeds to clothe itself again with care and deliberation, manifested not only in the selection of its articles of apparel, but in the proper shaping of them by means of its pincers.—London Spectator.

Killed by Fear.

Frederick I. of Prussia was killed by fear. His wife was insane, and one day she escaped from her keeper and, dabbling her clothes with blood, rushed upon her husband while he was dozing in his chair. King Frederick laughed her to be the "white lady," whose ghost was believed to invariably appear whenever the death of a member of the royal family was to occur, and he was thrown into a fever and died in six weeks.

Queen Mother.

"Isn't that perfectly ridiculous?" exclaimed Mrs. Pinks. "That young Mrs. Upstart who lives around the corner actually has the audacity to claim that she is of royal lineage!"

"Well," said the head of the house, stroking his gray mustache as he thought of bygone days, "she may not be so far wrong at that. I remember her mother when she was a girl, and, believe me, she was some queen."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Matter of the Future.

"When does the last train leave for Dobbersville?" asked the old lady at the ticket window.

"I don't know, ma'am," answered the elderly ticket agent. "But I don't suppose either of us will live long enough to take it."—Exchange.

FIREMEN AT MOUNT PLEASANT HAVE A LIVELY HALLOWEEN

Parade There is Exceptionally Good and Town is Thronged.

THE PRIZES ARE AWARDED

The Dance is Held in the Armory Following the Parade. Four Year Old Boy is Here in Preventing a Fire. Blaze in a Large Barn.

Special to The Courier. MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 1.—The local firemen gave the town an excellent celebration on Saturday evening. The parade was headed by the Greenburg Hiking Company, followed by the firemen. The parade ended at the east end of town and marched up town and back past Greenburg where the prizes were on exhibition and the prize committee handed out the prizes. A number of the firemen did not come into the committee's hands at the store on Saturday evening. Those that did come in were:

For best drum corps, $5. J. R. Olinger.
Best degree team, $5. Odd Fellows.
Largest organization in line, $15. The O. of E.
Best and largest band in line, $20. Stauffer Band.
Second best float, Woman's Suffrage, $5.

Individual prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Howe, Walter Wobbe, Mary Fox and Elmer Brinkley, A. J. Hobbs, William Randolph, Annie Gerke and Elizabeth Bergman, Andy Cliney, William Quiser, who was the best little chaplain; Laura King, Marjorie Santafelice, Clarence Fox, George Hatfield, who was the smallest child; Charles Steeler, W. H. Tarr, Ralph Curtis, H. P. Baker, Glenn Humberg, J. Heller, Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Greenburg, Mrs. Kistner, Anna Gerke and Elizabeth Bergman, Pauline Groser.

Following the parade there was a large crowd attended the dance at the Armory. The judges were Roy, Lette, Rex, Harp and Rex. The winning of New York, Messrs. Rolling, Merrill, J. A. Sheppard and W. J. Henderson.

On Saturday morning the heroic efforts of the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mildred McCollough saved the life of their younger child and probably kept the house from burning down. Mrs. McCollough was outside doing some work and Thayer, the three year old grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. McCollough, was in the house with the McCollough children, when the Christmas boy threw a stone box in the fire and it lighted reached in and pulling it out threw it on the floor. As the McCollough boy noticed the carpet burning he jumped on the flames and put them out.

At the United Brethren Church yesterday morning Woman's Day was observed. Addresses were made by Miss Sipee and Mrs. Torrancia. A nice dust was sung by Mrs. William Shupe and Clara Burkholder.

A men's meeting was held at the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon. Standing room was at a premium. C. E. Zeller was the president and the speaker was Dr. Hall who spoke on "Good Citizenship." Owing to the crowded condition of the house and the heat Martin House, a Civil War veteran, fainted and had to be taken home. He is reported to be recovering.

Mrs. Frances and Elizabeth Hance went to Altoona on Sunday to visit friends.

Mrs. Anna Simpson spent a few days' visit with Mrs. DeArms in Butler.

Max Kearns of Continental No. 2 Street Sunday at his home here.

Paul Kelly, a dental student at the University of Pittsburgh, was the guest of his father over Sunday.

Robert Cunningham of W. & J. spent Sunday here.

Walter W. Loveless of Harrisburg was visiting friends here yesterday.

The barn of Adlio Snyder of the South Side was found to be on fire shortly after midnight last evening. The fire started in the hay mow where four tons of hay were stored. The fire department quickly responded and the fire did not get to the first floor. It is not known how the barn caught fire unless someone was sleeping in the barn and set it on fire.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Broom Tea, or as the German folks call it "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a half spoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieves congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends All Stomach Distress in Five Minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if your food is sour, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head aches and aches; belch gas and acids and cravate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their regular food without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach. It's an unnecessary.—Adv.

REPUBLICAN LEGIONS CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS AT THE POLLS TOMORROW

CLEAN SWEEP FOR THE ENTIRE TICKET IS PREDICTED BY FOLLOWERS OF THE CAMPAIGNS WAGED BY RIVAL PARTIES

Republicans Are United in Their Determination to Carry the Election and Expect to Poll the Full Party Vote for the County Candidates; Democrats Fail to Arouse Enthusiasm for Their Candidates and Most of Them are Making a Lone Fight; Conneltsville Candidates are Running Strong and Big Vote for Rush and Hays Is Assured.

The Republicans will sweep Fayette county at the polls tomorrow. There is not the slightest doubt as to the outcome of the campaign. The Democrats have signally failed in their efforts to arouse interest for their ticket, and it is doubtful whether they will poll even a normal vote. Fayette will register its protest against Democratic administration of public affairs.

The Wilson administration of national affairs and the Strickler-Millard administration of the county poor have both about to receive a vote of lack of confidence.

Pennsylvania, from the Delaware to the Ohio, will tomorrow demonstrate to the country at large that the Keystone State is loyal to Republicanism, and Fayette will be one of the banner counties.

It is expected that Fayette will emphasize the fact that she is both safe and sane by rejecting William Hoffman, the product of the national West, where the spirit of unrest has found a haven and has been largely responsible for much of the undesirable that has been foisted on the country in recent years. Fayette has a sample of this type of reform in the non-partisan ticket, which has proven itself a rank political failure. It has not only failed in its purpose, but it has wrought for itself a bad name as an instrument to free the people from political bosses. It has proven one of the best assets of the machine.

Fayette county Republicans have nominated a strong ticket, which will sweep the county tomorrow. There will not be a break in its solid army. Not a single Democrat has shown sufficient strength to warrant the prediction that he has the slightest chance of winning.

Under two-term rule are making a serious fight. One is Edwin H. Swamy, candidate for sheriff, and the other is E. T. Norton, candidate for coroner. Both have some money and are spending it in the most effective manner.

On the other hand, the Republicans have an efficient organization which is working harmoniously for the entire ticket. The success of the candidates for county coroner or county surveyor is just as important to this organization as the election of a sheriff or controller. To this end efforts are made to have strong candidates participate in the primary, and it is conceded that the party voters displayed good judgment in the selection of the ticket.

The complete ticket includes the following: Sheriff, Thomas H. Howard, District Attorney, S. John Morrow, Controller, Harry Klingner, Commissioners, Charles H. Nutt and Logan Rush.

Prothonotary, George M. Rathmell, Clerk of Court, Richard Davis, Recorder of Deeds, H. C. Hays, Register of Wills, Harry Titterton.

Poor Director, Elmer D. Davidson, Coroner, Dr. S. H. Baum, Surveyor, J. H. Henderson.

Every section of the county is represented from Dawson, in the north, with Richard Davis, one of the best known men in the county, and among the most popular, to Brownsville, in the south, with George Rathmell for prothonotary, and Henry Titterton for register of wills. Conneltsville has two representatives on the ticket, Logan Rush for commissioner and H. C. Hays for recorder of deeds. Both are well known and well liked. Their election is assured. The complaint that Conneltsville is not represented in the court house will not hold good after the officers to be chosen tomorrow take their places.

There will be the selection of a county judge on the non-partisan ticket as well as the election of councilmen and a controller in Conneltsville and a complete city ticket in Uniontown. Judge Reynolds' election was assured at the primary. He goes on the ticket without opposition, and there is no organized effort to oppose him through the medium of a "split" campaign. It was so said of Judge Reynolds that he is the choice of the county, regardless of politics, because he will command the votes of hundreds of Democrats, as well as Republicans.

In Conneltsville the primary election settled the councilmanic fight. John Dugan, L. L. West, M. B. Pryce and J. H. Givins are candidates by courtesy. Each of them received more than half the number of ballots cast at the primary, and have no opposition on the ticket. No organized opposition has developed against them.

In Uniontown the principal interest centers in the election of a surveyor. Sheriff Mark A. Kleber is opposed by George M. Bailey. Kleber is expected to win with plenty of votes to spare. His personal popularity added to his known ability and experience, is a big factor in the Uniontown campaign. The countywide candidates of Republican preference are expected to be returned winners. Uniontown is always safely Republican.

Conneltsville will go Republican by the usual majority. E. T. Norton and H. C. Hays will receive a large complimentary vote from both Democrats and Republicans alike, but the tank and die of the voters will be Republican.

The Democratic organization here is badly disrupted. The federal appointments made at the request of Bruce B. Sterling have resulted in the alienation of a large and powerful wing of the party here represented by Mayor Marlett and his following. The faction demonstrated at the primary that it hasn't lost its old-time influence or any great extent, although never particularly successful in late years in bouts with the Republicans. The Democrats here are split to an extent sufficient to insure Republican success.

Special importance attaches to the constitutional amendments to be voted upon tomorrow. The first is that regarding Women's Suffrage. Polltold observers declare that the women have failed to work up sufficient enthusiasm for the proposition to warrant the prediction that it will even have a fighting chance at the polls.

The approval of the election is expected for Amendment No. 2. This amendment vitally affects Philadelphia. Its passage will make it possible for the voters of Philadelphia, if they so desire, to increase the indebtedness of that city for the purpose of carrying out a comprehensive system of rapid transit.

Of importance to the state at large is the approval of Amendment No. 3, a part of which will make possible the creation of state insurance for the workmen's compensation fund. Under the constitution as it now exists, the state is prohibited from participating in such an undertaking.

Amendment No. 4 authorizes the passage of laws providing a system of "clearing, transferring, insuring and guaranteeing of land titles by the state or the counties." It provides a means of removing the clouds on land titles and is a very desirable legislation. The amendment should pass.

On the non-partisan ticket three judges are to be elected for superior court.

W. J. RAINEY IS PREPARING FOR COMPENSATION

Medical Inspection Will Be Required of All Employees.

TO EXTEND WELFARE PROGRAM

Prevention of Disease as Well as Reduction of Accidents Regarded of Utmost Importance in Connection With New State Legislation.

With the formation of a safety department, the appointment of Dr. S. A. Balitz as its director, and the installation of a system of new sanitary medical and precautional inspection in each of its plants, W. J. Rainey announces a new departure which is expected to have far-reaching effect in the health and welfare of its employees.

The new plan embraces medical inspection of the employees, more rigid sanitation of the company houses, increased efficiency in the first aid work and furthering of the social welfare of each plant community.

A suite of rooms on the seventh floor of the First National Bank Building, Uniontown, adjacent to the main offices of the concern have been partitioned off for the work of the new department. Dr. Balitz has been given as his assistant A. W. Blader, formerly connected with the New York office of the concern.

A general safety committee composed of General Superintendent L. L. Willard, Chief Surgeon Dr. S. A. Balitz, Mine Superintendent John Blazek, General Electric Engineer L. J. Hauscher, General Master Mechanic

W. J. Young, will act in an advisory capacity over the entire enterprise. Carrying out the work of this committee will be a local committee in each of the plants of the company. This local committee will consist of the resident physician, the mine superintendent and four members. The four members of the committee will be taken from the mine and works. Their membership will be of three months' duration. In that time they will be drilled in the principles of hygiene, taught fundamental rules for the prevention of accidents, and otherwise co-operate in working out the new system. A gold and emerald safety button bearing the inscription, "W. J. S. Safety Department," will be given to each of the members at the beginning of his service. Three months later when they have finished, they will be furnished with a feeble signifier of their service.

By changing the personnel of the men in this manner, it is hoped to build up a system that will successfully maintain the idea.

Four years ago Superintendent Willard began to seek ways whereby the housing and personal welfare of employees could be improved. His initiative brought to each plant a resident physician and the expenditure of much time and money in improvement. To each better their condition and at the same time bring the physical state of all employees up to requirements of insurance tests, in anticipation of the Workmen's Compensation act, the new movement is under way.

During the past month practically all of the Rainey employees have been examined by company physicians. Ailments discovered among the men have been pointed out and a chance is given for them to rectify the trouble. The record of very superior is made.

In having statistical knowledge of the condition of each of its employees, the company will save many unjust claims which might be otherwise made under the provision of the new act.

The amount of risk is decreased, it is pointed out, while at the same time every employee is given a better opportunity to keep himself in good physical shape.

Since the inauguration of the sanitation campaign years ago by Superintendent Willard many of the company houses have been replaced by a condition advanced to the point of contagious disease.

Whose direction much more along this line is expected will make regular reports to the general committee on conditions at their respective plants. Standing members of these local committees will be the company physician, the mine superintendent and the superintendent of the plant. The other four members will be drawn from the works.

London in this new enterprise of the Rainey company, the employees are plants are: Allison, Superintendent Hilliday, Dr. W. S. Plunkenberg and Dr. Jackson; Reverse, Superintendent Clarence Patterson, Dr. Robert Jeffrey; Royal, Superintendent L. T. Mulder; Dr. G. B. Hopwood; Mount Baldy, Dr. W. S. Plunkenberg and Dr. William Neatt; Elm Grove, Superintendent J. W. Hingaman, Dr. J. B. Carroll; Paul, Port Hill and Rainey, Superintendent Alvin Stuchell and Dr. S. L. Evans; Grace Works, Superintendent John Alexander, Dr. J. L. Burkholder.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—The school authorities in Bavaria have published notes for the school children for the day attending the public schools. The following information is given regarding Russia:

The Russian territory already occupied by the Germans is four times as extensive as the Kingdom of Bavaria, but is only one-seventh of the entire Russian Empire. But the greater part of Russia is thinly populated, and the most populous districts are already in German possession, so that Russia can now support only six-sevenths of her former population.

RAILROADS BEGIN THE WAR AGAINST MOON PAY BILL

Congress Will Be Asked to Again Reject Unfair Legislation.

WANT BETTER PAY FOR MAILED

Proposed Legislation Would Give Postmaster General Entire Say in the Adjustment of Rates; Too Much Power for Official, Roads Claim.

Railroads operating 90% of the entire mileage in the United States have joined in a protest to Congress and the public against renewal of the efforts to effect the passage of the Moon railroad pay bill. The measure was introduced in the last Congress but failed to pass, although it was made a rider on the Postoffice Appropriation bill. The Postmaster General has announced that it will be reintroduced when the new Congress opens in December, and will be pushed for speedy passage.

Under the terms of the Moon bill, the Postmaster General would be authorized to establish the "space plan" of payment for mail transportation, by which a railroad company would be paid no more for hauling a whole carload of mail than for a parcel carload. In their protest against this measure, the railroads point out that the Moon bill would empower the Postmaster General, who is interested in the reduction of the postal deficit, to make the rates for carrying the mails, with the sole limitation that he could not exceed certain sums. He could reduce the rates to any extent he might desire, with no restraint but his personal discretion.

The railroads direct attention to the fact that Chairman Moon, of the House of Representatives Postoffice Committee, in asking support for this measure declared it to be the proposal of the Postoffice Department.

DEVELOPING COAL

Denmark Seeks to Increase Output of Greenland's Mines.

By Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 1.—The Danish government is taking steps to mine coal in Greenland more extensively. This is due to the fact that it is difficult now to buy English coal in Denmark. The coal famine, in fact, is so serious here that the government is planning to relieve the situation in part by cutting wood from the government forests. Steps are also being taken to increase the production of peat.

Coal has heretofore been mined in Greenland only in an experimental way, but the deposits there, in the opinion of experts, are very extensive. The heating qualities of Greenland coal, however, are not regarded as equal to the English variety.

The government is also taking a new interest in the copper mines of this far northern colony, thinking that the mines are capable of more extensive development which would be profitable at the present time.

PUNISH BUNGLERS

Russia Breaks Officers Responsible for Loss of Battle Cruiser.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 1.—Russia's way with the inefficient is illustrated in the report of the court-martial which has just sentenced the captain and lieutenant-commander of the Russian cruiser Jemchug, which was destroyed by the Emden at Penang a year ago. Both officers were accused of negligence.

The court found both officers guilty, and "taking into consideration their hitherto unblemished record and their brave service during the Russo-Japanese war," passed the following sentence:

"Both officers to lose all civil rights, to be dismissed from the imperial service, and deprived of all decorations. Captain Baron Tcherkassoff to lose his rank of baron and be sent to jail for three and a half years; Lieutenant-Commander Mullin to be sent to jail for a year and a half."

LABOR BOGEY NOW IS HAUNTING THE COKE OPERATORS

Merchant Plants Principal Sufferers in Scramble
for Workers.

FURNACE OVENS WELL MANNED

Forethought Policy Adopted Some Months Ago is Bearing Fruit; The Plants Just Starting Up are Hard
Pressed for Miners and Laborers.

With demand brisk and prices better than they have been for months, the labor bogey is now haunting the coke operators, especially those representing the merchant ovens. When they had no business there was an abundance of help, but now that is a demand for coke, the problem of manning the ovens is becoming serious. The furnace interest is better fortified. There is no surplus of labor at the plants, but the furnished policy adopted some months ago has borne fruit. The furnace plants are employing to hundreds of workers at a time when there would have been justification in keeping half as many men on the payroll. The result of this has been that now labor is in real demand, the furnace ovens are not suffering to any great extent. The operators now the boom coming and provided for it.

Six months ago there was plenty of labor, but a scarcity of jobs. Today there are plenty of jobs, but a shortage of labor. It is reported that among the merchant operators there has developed keen competition for men, with the consequence that managers are now and then "straining" labor from their competitors. This is accomplished, not by increased wages, but through the offer of better working conditions. The plants which are most active in welfare work, and can offer the most satisfactory and attractive homes, and safest working conditions, have the edge over the others.

Just before the revival in the coke trade became pronounced, in fact, before there was an indication of it on the surface, the leading furnace interest in the region began its program to insure an ample supply of workers when there should be a demand for them. Without apparent justification, so far as the demand for coke was concerned, this interest began being over. It fired several thousand throughout the region, thereby creating work for additional men. For a time there were over but three and four days a week. As many of the merchant plants were either idle, or operating only a small percentage of their capacity, there was labor a plenty, and men welcomed the opportunity to get work, even on part time. This policy was continued until conditions warranted operation virtually in full. Just before production was undertaken on a scale that threatened to tax the capacity of the furnace ovens, these plants had an abundance of labor, and they have plenty today, and they are not suffering seriously for the lack of it.

The merchant operators were less fortunately situated. They were unable to sell their coke, and because of curtailed earnings and other conditions, were unable to stock any quantity of it. They had to fire their ovens as they got their orders, and while they were waiting for business the furnace interest was being the men. The larger independent operators were better fortified than the small ones, and were, in a measure, able to enter the competition for men, but not on the scale of the furnace interest. They got some, but not many. Now all the merchant operators are looking for labor, and not succeeding particularly well in finding it.

Even those plants which have an apparently ample supply of workers are not out of the woods. Coke region labor has been somewhat independent. The men in the mines and at the ovens are for the most part foreigners. They observe many holidays when the natives do not. There are religious holidays and holidays that are not religious, and most of them are generally observed. The consequence is that layoffs are frequent, with the operator helpless to protest. Ordinarily he has a full complement of men, but comes a foreign holiday and some of them are off.

The war has had its effect on labor conditions. There has been no limitation of output of the war, but it has been more than a year, while a considerable number of foreigners have returned to their native lands to fight. In spite of the fact that the subjects of Austria-Hungary who make up the majority of the region labor have been unable to return to the old country with safety quite a few of them have left the region, and there has been no supply of raw material to draw upon. The Italian migration did not affect the coke region directly, but the loss of Italian labor was felt. The Italian laborer is for the most part found in the railroad section, or on construction work, but his departure has caused a void which in many instances is being filled by those miners and coke workers who prefer that labor to the hazards of the mine and yard.

The number of foreigners in the region at the outbreak of the war was below normal. Business had been at low ebb for months prior to the beginning of the European catychn and thousands of coke region men were found at home, awaiting the return of good times, when the war broke out. These men did not want to go back to their native land to fight because they were already there.

Practically all of the available labor of the coke region is now employed, and this fact, even by taking consideration by those who are trying to know the producing capacity of the ovens. On the other hand, the better wages and working conditions of the Connelville region constantly attract men hither and thence, and the merchant operator to his many idle ovens during the past couple of months.

At the Theatres.

SOISSON THEATRE.

"THE TRYING PLACE."—The favorite comedian, Charles Chaplin, will appear at the Soisson theatre today in the screaming comedy, "The Trying Place." It is an excellent farce, Grace Chantel and Francis Ford also appear today in the popular serial, "The Broken Coin." The famous actor, Walter Kerrigan is the star today in the two reel Victor drama, "A Kentucky Lady," that tells of the early Kentucky pioneers, all of them six feet tall. Every mother's son of them hard as nails and dead shots from childhood, they were men to be feared. The Power's drama, "The Vengeance of O'Brien," has Sidney Ayres and Lyle Paine in the cast. It is a thrilling story of love and hate. Billy Rhodes appears in the Nestor comedy, "The Best Man Won," and relates a comic story how a boy wins his best girl from an artist. Tomorrow, the Broadway Universal Company presents Robert Rosworth in the sensational drama, "The Scarlet Sin." This is a powerful, soul-stirring drama of a woman who sinned and the price she paid for her folly. There are no exaggerated scenes in it for the principal roles are played by stars of the legitimate stage, veterans of the footlights who know the value of repression in moments of stress. The

HOBART BOSWORTH,
Famous Film Producer Who Joins Universal Forces.

"Secret Sin" was written by James Dayton from the original story by Olga Printzlau Clark and tells of a minister's struggle with his unfaithful wife. Otto Turner and Hobart Bosworth, both legitimate and photographic veterans, have produced the two-reel photodrama in masterly fashion. Mr. Bosworth is supported by Jane Novak and a sterling cast of character actors including Grace Thompson, Frank Elliott, Matt Hoxie, Edward Brown, Whitworth Harris and Mrs. Wright.

On Wednesday, D. W. Griffith's famous six reel play, "The Little of the West" is the attraction at the Soisson.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

"CHARLES CHAPLIN REVIEW."—The Colonial Theatre will have one of the biggest weeks in its history beginning today. Two dramatic productions and four action pictures of the highest class are scheduled for the week. Monday night a Charles Chaplin review will be given. This shows the famous screen comedian at his best, the producers having gotten together bits of his most successful pictures.

Tuesday night, May Holman will be shown in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," a play that ranks with "Way Down East" as a popular favorite, will be shown.

Wednesday, the sensational "Secret Orchards" with Blanche Sweet, will be the attraction.

Thursday night William Farnum in "The Spellers" will be repeated. Manager Kenny has secured a return engagement for this famous picture on the request of scores of his patrons, some who have seen it and others who have not.

Friday the old favorite, "Uncle Charlie" will be the attraction. Children of this audience are not to be deprived of the opportunity their fathers and mothers had to see Uncle Tom, Little Eva, Marks, Topsy and the rest of the characters that made this play immortal.

Saturday the popular "Red Jants" will appear in "Neely a Lady," another of her own comedies.

"THE REJUVENATION OF AUNT MARY."—May Holman, America's premier comedienne, will be seen in Connelville for the first time at the Colonial.

A Scene from "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary."

Theatre next Tuesday night, in a notable farewell revival of Anne Warner's popular comedy of New England life, "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." It is needless to remark that in this play the popular comedienne found the most effective role of her career and the theatregoing public never grew tired of seeing Miss Robson as the dear, delightful New England aunt. The play has the same inherent qualities that made "The Old Homestead" perennial, with the exception that no one has been able to succeed Miss Robson in the title role as in the case of Damaris Thompson. The reason for this is that Miss Robson as "Aunt Mary Watkins" is so responsible for the larger part of the enjoyment of the play that it is even impossible to conceive of anyone filling her place. Those who have seen Miss Robson act will realize how important words are to adequately portray the charm she holds over her audience. Miss Robson is—Miss Robson—that is the whole story. She has been called "the funniest woman on the American stage," and there undoubtedly are many who will realize that this claim is well founded but her versatility covers such a wide scope that most of her admirers after witnessing the art she displays as Aunt Mary in this play will realize seconds are positive that she could attain as high a place as an emotional actress as she has in the lighter roles, providing her tastes lay in that direction. Now scenery and costumes, together with a cast of superior excellence, will make the production particularly notable.

ARCADIA THEATRE.

"LADY AUDLEY'S SECRET."—As is customary with all William Fox productions, the cast of his latest success, "Lady Audley's Secret," is far above the average photo-drama. Theda Bara, who created such a furore by her marvellously artistic portrayals of the Vampiro woman in "A Fool There Was" and "The Devil's Daughter," quite surpasses herself in her latest vehicle. The story of the woman, cursed by an hereditary malady, that causes her to attempt her own husband's life, and to bring misery upon her own, is one of thrilling dramatic power. This production will undoubtedly be considered one of the greatest vehicles that has yet been furnished Miss Bara.

In support of Miss Bara, there appear Clifford Bruce, who starred in many well known Broadway productions before entering the field of the silent drama under the banner of William Fox; Stephen Grattan, who among many other successes created the title role in the original production of "The Prisoner of Zenda"; William Hilly Hatcher, who played the title part in the Fox production of the "Puncher"; Warner Richmond, Frazer Coulter, Catherine Adams and many others whose names are equally well and favorably known to theatre and motion picture lovers.

As Lieutenant Devenant, Frazer Coulter gives an especially convincing performance of the half pay army officer, who peevishly drink to drown his finer sensibilities and feelings. His make-up is a marvel, his every move and gesture is suggestive of the character he is playing.

Another part that is played with convincing realism is that of the Australian, portrayed by E. E. Knight. Mr. Knight is the typical Australian miner and the realistic background of the gold fields makes his work stand out with particular emphasis.

"Lady Audley's Secret" will be shown at the Arcadia Theatre today only.

One of the greatest of modern filmed stage plays is George Klenck's "The Money Master," which appears at the New Arcadia Theatre tomorrow. "The Money Master" is founded on Cleveland Moffett's celebrated drama of life in the New York ghetto district and in the mansions of the rich. It is a story possessed of great power, much heart interest and quite the most pretentious drama of its kind in film. "The Money Master" features an all star cast, including Paul Mannoff, Frank Sheridan and Paul McAllister.

Wednesday, the celebrated Howard Gasbrook in the wonderful war drama, "Four Feathers," by the Metro Picture Corporation. Thursday, William Fox presents "The Generation," by Owen Kildare, with Rockcliffe Fellers and Anna Nilsson, and an all star cast.

The management of the Arcadia Theatre has booked the Equitable Film Corporation attractions released through the World Film Corporation, and on each Monday late release will be shown. The first attraction will be Monday, November 8, when Clara Kimball Young will be featured in "Trilby," one of the greatest moving pictures in which Miss Young has starred. Later on the Pathé Gold Rooster plays, featuring well known players including Arnold Daly, Pearl White and Clifton Crawford, will be shown.

THE GLOBE.

"THE VENTURES OF MARGUERITE."—Manager C. A. Wagner has booked "The Ventures of Marguerite," a Kaleid scope, starring Marguerite Courtot, the charming screen idol. "The Ventures of Marguerite" are intended to picture experiences which befall a typical American girl, who has been left a fortune and sets out to earn at least a share of it by alleviating misery and suffering wherever she can find places not commonly uncovered by agents of organized charity. Miss Courtot, a producing company thinks she has exceptional claims to being the typical American girl. Miss Courtot appears frequently at the Globe and by her unusually charming personality has won many admirers. A great feat for Saturday is "Midnight at Maxine's," a powerful four reel feature drama. Today's program includes "Capital Punishment," an intensely interesting drama starring George M. Huxley; "The Return of Goodman Joe," an Lillian drama, with Nell Craig in the leading role, and "Billy the Bear Tamer," a Vitagraph comedy featuring Constance Talmage.

THE LAST WORD ABOUT VEILS AND TOPPERS

HISTORICAL, period and military styles are beginning to settle down after weeks of jumble into the modishly dressed and conservatively tailored woman not given over to extremes, not shapeless and not clumsily bunched in those that hinder freedom of motion. She may wear a skirt fitting smoothly at the top and not necessarily flared, provided it gives width at the bottom. Many new skirts are no more than two yards around the hem. This much is certain—coats are long and short, to suit various tastes, waist lines are still rather high, and turn are so favored as non-detachable trimmings that we shall probably suffer a squeeze before the season ends.

This much said about suits, we may feel free to interest ourselves in new hats, which seem to have passed through their metamorphosis and taken on definite, smart, acceptable outlines. Veils were never more sumptuous or picturesque, having been discarded. Over a graceful wide brimmed sailor of black and white hat's plush is draped a hexagonal net richly embroidered with a charming leaf pattern. Across the lower portion is hemmed a deep band of chiffon, flange in wide, natural lines, this veil, so easily manipulated and heavy enough to hold its drapery, is one of the sure favorites—the "X-ray" veil.

Another autumn accessory popular because it answers a real need before heavy furs come in, is the black, and white netting feather bon, fastening with a graceful silk braid tassel. This verges into the close, high fur tipped, hooking snugly as illustrated with the dress hat of black velvet, high crown and bonnet poke effect in front. This beautiful hat has a simple band of heavy satin ribbon with a smushing velvet rose gracing one side. For the dressy suits this design is always good taste.

The chimney pot hat, the "topper," is as near like men's top hats as possible. And the position—any known model that gives height. Our fetching little black silk beaver with its distinctive brim and perky ornament of black grosgrain ribbon and jet beads is really the last word of smartness. Another fascinating novelty seen in many of the shops is the "war bride" veil. Ours is draped over a small navy velvet turban, a chiffon base with a long streamer of silk net richly embroidered with a rose pattern in points. The veil is so attached that it naturally falls in pretty folds—a most fetching effect around a young face. Our jaunty little turban, which suggests a Scotch cap, is also black silk velvet, the crown of which is faced with turquoise velvet. The spangled jet pompon is well placed, as is the handsome jet pin. This shape is popular because it takes the wind so well. The girl who is attached to her sun-ribbon has threads of gilt at the gets a white velours felt like our illustration, which is trimmed horizontally with a mass of gay colored feathers matching the worked embroidery on the blouse of her frock.

Ribbons are having a tremendous vogue.

Bandings from two to three inches wide are in heavy corduroy cords, gros de londree, poplin cords and striped bandings of every national combination and fable. These bandings are seen on the first fall hats of semi-tailored style as a band and small bow or made ornament. The tailored style of hat does not need large bows, but this class of hat is not dressy, and this shape is popular because it takes the wind so well.

The girl who is attached to her sun-ribbon has threads of gilt at the edge, others a pleat edge or a contrasting stripe, usually black or white, or in the national stripes suitable for each country. A color stripe may be on the edge, or the various colors may be grouped in the center. Ribbons of faille have woven patterns and also applied designs.

Girdles, sashes and children's hair bows of tulle are in designs of lilacs and roses and more effects in stripes and figures. Satin ribbons in evening shades are used for sashes, girdles and bands on net, crape and other frocks. Navy, mulberry, bottle green, taupe, African, brown, dark purple, hatter's gray and dregs of wine are leading colors.

Thin ribbons are used for neck-like bands under transparent net, crape, chiffon and similar waists. Narrow trim ribbons and metal buttons are used on neckwear. Bright shades of satin ribbon look well as bretelles on a waist of sheer goods under the fabric. Sashes of one end and a loop from a small bow or fluffy rosette look well at the back.

Evening bodices are made entirely of alternate bands of val lace and ribbons. Ruffled waists of wide ribbon are edged with net. Evening dress petticoats are also made of net, decorated with several rows of satin ribbon. Handkerchiefs of lace, net and ribbon fasten with snappers. Baby caps of narrow ribbon have the rows interwoven like a chair seat and are edged with lace or novelty trimming.
